AUGUST IN O.C. HISTORY

Immediately after resigning the Presidency, on Aug. 9, 1974, Yorba Linda native Richard Nixon returned to Orange County. His plane was greeted by 8,000 supporters at MCAS El Toro.

- August 01, 1889: Orange County officially came into existence. It was previously part of Los Angeles County.
- August 04, 1801: Bernardo Antonio Yorba was born in San Diego. He helped develop his family's Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana (which today includes Santa Ana, Orange, Villa Park, Anaheim Hills, El Modena, Tustin, Costa Mesa, and part of Irvine), and later received his own land grant, Rancho Cañón de Santa Ana (near today's Yorba Linda), where he built a large adobe home.
- August 06, 1945: Army Staff Sgt. Kazuo Masuda, who grew up in Tustin and Fountain Valley, was posthumously awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in the Italian campaign.
- August 14, 1961: The Flying Saucers ride opened at Disneyland near today's Space Mountain. The saucer ride would close just five years later. The similar Luigi's Flying Tires ride at Disney's California Adventure opened in 2012 and lasted less than three years.
- August 19, 1963: Actor John Stamos (General Hospital, Full House) is born in Cypress, California.
- August 31, 1973: The first International Street Fair was held in Orange. It was based on a similar fair held in 1910.
